Allen W. Dulles,
Director of Central Intelligence,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Dulles:

I thought I should tell you that I'm indebted to you for your comments as reported in the September 5th issue of the U. S. News & World Report, dealing with your speech to the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

I was particularly impressed by your calling attention to the need for more education of the whole history of the Communist movement - more of this should be done in the schools and colleges.

Several years ago, I completed my graduate work at the University of Chicago. Many times, I was not only dismayed but dumbfounded by the attitude, particularly of the foreign students, at International House at the University of Chicago. They're not Communists, of course, but they seem to be obsessed with some process of "social control" whereby they belittle ~~our~~ imperfect market system - and at the same time, seemingly trying to rearrange things so that they, with all their inexperience, could come into control.

(Step the best then)
(socialists?)

Those of us from the Graduate School of Business at the University, fought a losing battle - We're going to continue it.

Cordially yours,

Dr. John Masek,
